WE Breastfeed

The WE Breastfeed program pairs trained and experienced volunteers with parents who are feeding breastmilk, and parents who are pregnant and want to learn about breastfeeding. Volunteers are respectful of whatever feeding choices parents make, knowing that any amount of breastmilk is beneficial and that longer breastfeeding, up to two years and beyond, is normal. WE Breastfeed supports parents feeding human milk in any way, in any amount.

You can be matched with a WE Breastfeed volunteer for one-on-one breastfeeding conversations and/or support. Call our program co-ordinator Nicole Barrette at 519-821-6638, Ext. 250 or email webreastfeed@guelphchc.ca to get started.

Volunteers are also on-hand at free, weekly drop-in breastfeeding cafés to provide social space and answer your questions. Cafés are a great place to meet other breastfeeding families, have a free hot cup of fair trade coffee or tea, and enjoy some playtime with your children.

Community Food Markets

The Community Food Markets are a weekly affordable fresh food market, aimed at increasing the accessibility (both physical and financial) of good food for everyone in Guelph.

Our items are priced on a sliding scale, with the top amount equivalent to retail value, and the lower amount as cheap as we can sustainably offer (often 30-50% below retail prices).
You pay whatever feels right for you within the range listed.

Paying the mid to retail end of the scale subsidizes the cost for others in our community who benefit from the lower end of the scale. By shopping at the market, you are directly contributing to an equity-based food system.
